Curriculum Breakdown

Reading

The reading component focuses on skimming, scanning, and detailed comprehension. Sample passages range from academic articles to opinion pieces, each followed by tasks that test inference, vocabulary, and logical sequencing.

Writing tasks are divided into two parts: a formal essay and a creative or business writing exercise. The coursebook provides a structured framework for each, including introduction, body paragraphs, and conclusion templates. Additionally, it highlights common grammatical pitfalls and offers strategies for coherence and cohesion.

Listening exercises simulate real life scenarios—lectures, interviews, and conversations. Learners practice note taking, identifying main ideas, and distinguishing nuances in tone and emphasis.
