Lesson Planning with American Headway

Effective lesson planning is the cornerstone of successful instruction. The American Headway Second Edition teacher manual provides a clear framework that can be customized to fit any classroom environment.

Step 1: Set Clear Objectives

Begin by identifying the specific communicative goal for the session—e.g., “Students will be able to ask and answer questions about their daily routines.” Align each objective with the broader curriculum and the textbook’s unit goals.

Step 2: Choose the Right Activities

The textbook offers a variety of activity types. For a lesson on daily routines, consider:

- Warm up: Quick “What did you do yesterday?” discussion.
- Grammar Focus: Introduce the simple present tense with controlled practice.
- Vocabulary Building: Match words with images or use flashcards.
- Interactive Task: Students interview classmates and record their findings.
- Wrap up: Reflection on how the new language can be used in daily life.

Step 3: Incorporate Assessment

Assessment should be both formative and summative. Use the textbook’s built in quizzes for quick checks and design a short oral exam to evaluate speaking proficiency. For written work, provide a rubric that assesses structure, vocabulary, and grammar accuracy.
